CAR HITS ICE-CREAM WAGON—TWO ARE HURT

Two boys were injured, one seriously, when a Washington street car crashed into one of Donofrio's wagons at Seventh street and Washington late yesterday afternoon. Thomas Contreras, who was riding on the wagon, was cut and bruised and sustained injuries to the spine which may prove serious, and Vere Holinger, driver of the vehicle, was bruised and cut.

Contreras was removed to his home, 1115 West Jefferson street, where he was reported last night to be resting easily. The extent of his injuries will not be fully determined until today. The wagon was demolished and the horse severely hurt.

WILLIAMS AT HOME—Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Williams, of the Williams Mesquite Camp, are at home and ready for healthseekers. They found no place they like better than Phoenix. JIM LAVIN LEAVES—James P. (Jim) Lavin, popular attorney at law and one of the leaders of the Irish colony, leaves this morning on an extended vacation and business trip up the west coast. Lavin will view the San Francisco fair, and then proceed to Portland, Seattle and other points, to look after landed interests. He will be away about a month. And he denies the rumor (blasting its originator as a pure prevaricator) that he is going away single to return double.

A YAKU OUTBREAK—It was not alarming. It took the form of matrimony. By the middle of the afternoon four couples had applied for licenses and all of them were wanted in a hurry, "muy pronto," and assurance was demanded that they would be good at once. The parties thus permitted to wed were Jose Balenzuela and Martina Azuna; Jose Venada and Maria Flores; Juan Parra and Crescencia Valdez; Ramon Victoriana and Antonia Memel. All this business had been transacted by the middle of the afternoon and Clerk Johnston of the matrimonial department of the office of the clerk of the court did not feel sure that the interruption was over.

WORK IN ARIZONA FOR MICHIGAN UNION

The Construction of the University's $1,000,000 Club House.

All college men in Arizona are interested in the announcement made at Ann Arbor recently of the campaign among the 35,000 alumni of the University of Michigan to raise $1,000,000 for a club house to be erected and endowed for the Michigan Union—the students' organization.

Michigan's gigantic undertaking for the purpose of democratizing the students by giving them a common meeting ground for the exchange of ideas is evidently going to be watched very closely by all former collegians.

"Arizona will respond to the call from Ann Arbor," said Eben Lane, chairman of the Michigan Union committee of this city. "Our pro rata share of the $1,000,000 will be subscribed without a doubt. The Michigan men of Arizona are glad of the chance to do something really worth while for their alma mater and when the returns are all in the last of October, I feel confident that our committee will be seen right up in the front for results accomplished."

The Michigan Union building will not only be a magnificent gift to the university, but it will bind the alumni closer than ever to their alma mater. It will be the headquarters for all graduates and former students when they return to Ann Arbor for big football games, class reunions or commencement. In short, the union will renew the spirit of college days in the hearts of all the old grads. So, naturally, the alumni will congratulate themselves that it is this generation which is to have the privilege of making such a splendid gift to their university."

On account of the summer and the absence from the state of so many Ann Arbor men, the committee has been unable to do much, but immediately after September 1, the work will be taken up in earnest.

CLINT DU BOIS LOSES CAR IN PINAL WASH

GLOBE, Aug. 28.—C. M. DuBois, automobile dealer of Phoenix, was the victim of an accident which almost cost him his life.

In attempting to cross Pinal creek near the O. D. smelter a short time after a torrential rain storm had begun he ran into a wash which flooded his car and killed the engine of the automobile which he was driving and before he could get assistance or even leave the car a wall of water three or four feet in height, caused by an apparent cloudburst east of Globe, rushed on to him and swept him down the stream for several hundred feet and that he escaped a sudden death is a miracle, according to eye witnesses.

The current was terrific and he was absolutely powerless to extricate himself and by the time a slight eddy reached him he was in an exhausted condition and had to be assisted from the murky waters. After reaching the shore he completely collapsed and the services of a local physician were necessary to resuscitate him.

The automobile, a six cylinder Lozier, followed him down stream and after rolling over and over many times is completely wrecked and almost entirely covered up by rocks and debris. The top and body were torn from the frame and at last accounts had not been located. It is believed that they were completely demolished.

Aside from the nervous shock, Du Bois sustained no other injuries, and will endeavor to recover the engine, chassis and wheels of his once beautiful and commodious machine.

SEVEN DAY NON-STOP MAXWELL HEAT TRIAL

Fully bearing out the contention of the leading engineers in the country that the 1915 Maxwell car has the most efficient cooling system yet installed in a light car, a test which terminated recently has been the source of much and favorable comment throughout the Pacific slope.

In order to demonstrate efficiency under abnormal conditions, the Maxwell distributors in the San Joaquin Valley, the Thompson & La Casse company, with headquarters in Fresno, took a 1915 Maxwell, arranged for relief drivers and competent checkers, and on July 31st, at noon, started the brand new car off on a seven-day non-stop run up and down the length of one of the hottest sections of California, where the heat frequently ranges well above one hundred degrees every day for weeks at a time.

Not once during the entire seven days and nights did the motor lag or show any signs of any mechanical trouble. The heat, so intense that the drivers were changed every four hours, failed to cause the water to unduly heat in the radiator and the inspectors closely watched every detail throughout the entire test.

When the full seven days had elapsed the motor was stopped and in the presence of many of the most prominent motorists in that section the seals were broken and the hood lifted. The inspection which followed, and which was close and thorough, revealed the motor in perfect condition and with the entire mechanism showing no signs of having been unduly heated.

Arizona Egyptian Cotton Company Starts Operations for Season With Prospects of a Fine Output

That his company is paying from three to four cents more for cotton this year than last was the statement made yesterday by H. B. Atha, president of the Arizona Egyptian Cotton company, whose plant on South Fifth street has just been put in operation for the season of 1915-16.

"The cotton brought into the plant this week is as fine as any I ever saw," declared Mr. Atha yesterday. "We have been paying as much for the volunteer cotton as for the first year product, and the output is very good indeed."

Operations at the local plant commenced last Wednesday and the crew will be gradually increased as the daily cotton receipt climaxes toward "capacity," which mark will probably be reached in a few weeks.
